

Step1:

I will go through the full application. Draw a mapping(function+class) of the total project.

Step2:

Review the code and try to understand which portion of code is responsible for which task.

Step3:

Then build each feature and test them one by one to be assured that these are properly working.